This program is supported in part by a grant from the Chatham Cultural Council, a local agency which is supported by the Massachusetts Cultural Council, a state agency.

“This book was born on the shores of Puget Sound. The Puget Soundbook ©2003, 1991, by author James A. Kolb and illustrator Dianne Gusset Bressler was originally funded by the Puget Sound Water Quality Authority and is part of the award-winning FOR SEA family of curriculum guides for grades 1-12, available from FOR SEA Institute of Marine Science, Indianola, Washington 98342 (www.forsea.org).

“With permission, The Puget Soundbook grew into The Island Blue Pages. The “Booklet Committee,” a dedicated group of volunteers from Vineyard environmental groups, the Martha’s Vineyard Commission, and town employees under the leadership of the Martha’s Vineyard Shellfish Group, adapted it to the East Coast waters of Martha’s Vineyard and the Wampanoag Tribe of Gayhead (Aquinnah) provided major funding. For a complete version of The Island Blue Pages, visit the website www.islandbluepages.org or contact the Martha’s Vineyard Shellfish Group at 508-693-0391.

“The Orleans Pond Coalition, with permission, adapted The Puget Soundbook and The Island Blue Pages to The Orleans Blue Pages reflecting conditions specific to Orleans but also generic to Cape Cod in hopes other organizations would continue to spread the word to protect our waters. To learn more about OPC, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to preserving and protecting fresh and marine waters, visit the website www.orleanspondcoalition.org. For information on reproducing these materials, email info@orleanspondcoalition.org. Orleans Pond Coalition is not responsible for future adaptations of The Orleans Blue Pages.”

Friends of Chatham Waterways (FCW), with permission, adapted The Puget Soundbook, The Island Blue Pages, and The Orleans Blue Pages to Chatham Blue Pages drawing attention to qualities that are unique to Chatham as well as generic to Cape Cod, in the hope that other towns will want to protect their waters also.
